The purpose of this research was to analyse and design a system of web-based database application that can be used on a foundation of Ibad Ar-Rahman to endorse the information and performance of the school Foundation. Methodology of research done in the writing of this thesis consists of two part therefore the method of analysis and design methods. The analysis is done by performing the data collection questionnaire and interview on the Foundation of Ibad Ar-Rahman. The design is done using the method of designing the system databases and the design of the application. Results achieved are application can be completed and done with all the scope of their needs. A summary of the web-based database application is to support its users in knowing the school information

Key Words
Database System, Web, Information, Ibad Ar-Rahman Foundation