ABSTRACT

This paper explores the personality of the March sisters, the main characters in a novel entitled Little Women. The writer will use approaches from Henry Murray’s Personology, the psychogenic needs. It consists of twenty major needs, which Murray suggests as important as the primary ones. The writer uses the library research method. The books are borrowed from Atma Jaya University library and Kajian Wilayah Amerika. Besides books, the writer also takes articles from the Internet. The writer finds that each sister has different personality. They work hard and are guided by their mother’s wisdom to change their bad behaviours. Their needs change as they grow older.
