ABSTRACT

Negative attitude and prejudice against women is certainly one of the causes of the subordinate social position of women and gender-based violence. This condition reflects women as a subordinate of men in society. The description of women struggle against physical violence is closely related with the event that appears in the novel Panic Room. To explain about woman struggle against physical violence will be the goal of this project paper. The analysis will use the inter-textual method, which exposes the interrelationship within one to another element in its textual analysis supported by Kelly’s concept of How Woman Batter Men and The Role of The Feminist State.
