ABSTRACT

The purpose of this paper is to describe and explain to the reader, especially teenager readers about the importance of drug abuse treatment in Drug Dependence Hospital. In this paper, there will be discussion on the drug abuse treatment process both in Out-Patient Unit (or the unit where the patient is treated in ambulatory) and In-Patient Unit (or the unit where the patient has to be hospitalized) in Drug Dependence Hospital. The research methodology used in this paper are : 1) Library Research where the writer select, read and comprehend some textbooks, newspapers, magazines and articles. 2) The paper also works on the observation in Drug Dependence Hospital about the treatment process there. The conclusion indicates that the drug abuse treatment process is not simple and quick. The treatment process, both in Out-Patient Unit and In-Patient Unit need a period of time to be cured, and after cured the patient has to check-up in the hospital in order to prevent relapse or the patient used drugs again.
