

ABSTRACT

An Interpretation through character and ideas on Oscar's The Picture of Dorian Gray is a paper which tries to interpret the character of Dorian Gray, the main character. By composing the paper, the writer tries to understand more about the character and the similarities with the character that we meet in our every day life. And also in this paper the writer tries to dive a little deeper and look more closely about what the character really is.

In order to help getting the main purpose of the paper, the writer uses many books of literature and psychology that she gets from libraries. From the books she can find many theories on them that she never imagined before. The books not only help her to understand the character but also help her to learn many interesting personalities of human behavior.

The writer hopes that from the paper, the readers will find it is interesting to read literary works and can learn new things as the writer does.
